

Nels Bakke Award - Kinga Ebner, D.C.

Our Nels Bakke award is given to an outstanding chiropractor with five years or less of experience.

Ebner

With the difficulties of starting their professional life, it is a wonder that any young chiropractor has the time to anything beyond developing his or her practice. But as always, there are chiropractors setting an example, and this year is no exception.

The success of the chiropractic profession has been due, in no small part, to the passion and energy our doctors bring to their communities.

This year's Nels Bakke award winner has a neverending supply of energy that takes her from the clinic to a myriad of community events helping the public to understand the benefits of chiropractic care.

The nice thing is that she is working both ends of the patient spectrum. The New Mothers and Infant Support group at Elmbrook Memorial Hospital is a beneficiary of her work, as is the Veterans Administration, and the Arthritis Foundation.

Our award winner has also demonstrated her tenacity and courage by speaking to United Healthcare – although I think we would all agree this insurance company needs to spend a lot more quality time with chiropractors.

Knowing the importance of a long-term relationship with her community, our Nels Bakke award winner is an active board member for the Butler Chamber of Commerce.

Back at the office her caring is evident to her patients as well as her staff. Her positive energy consumes everyone in her path and patients leave the clinic not only with their spines aligned but their spirits as well.

Would you please join me in congratulating our 2006 Nels Bakke award winner, Dr. Kinga Ebner.
